Re: Response to your Application for an AOC in English/ Joint Disciplinary w/English

DATE: September 24, 2012

On behalf of the faculty in English, I am writing to inform you that your application for a Disciplinary Area of Concentration in Literature has been:

☐ Approved as ☐ full/ ☐ joint disciplinary per the following details:

To complete your AOC, we are requiring you to complete the following before graduating:
[ ] semester-length equivalents with textual analysis focus;
[ ] semester-length equivalents with historical focus;
[ ] semester-length equivalents with cross-cultural components;
[ ] semester-length equivalents that incorporate criticism or theoretical approaches.

[ ] more semesters of work in literature in English
[ ] more semesters of work in literature in a non-English language or in translation
[ ] more work in _____

COMMENTS:

You should now download a Provisional Area of Concentration form from the Registrar's Office, complete it in consultation with a member of English faculty, have it signed by two of us, and file it with the Registrar by Friday before midterm break.

☐ Deferred at this time.
The committee was unable to approve your application; we do not have enough evidence of your work in literature and faculty support for the senior thesis project. You may reapply, but you must consult with faculty in the relevant field before doing so. At this time you should discuss filing another AOC with your advisor.

☐ Denied. Specifically:
[ ] concern about quantity and distribution of courses in field;
[ ] concern about quality of your work, i.e. ability to work at an advanced level with literary texts and likelihood of a successful senior project in the field.
